Welcome to edition 113 of the EUFOR Forum, this is the second edition I have edited and I am excited to deliver some fantastic stories.

This edition shows a great variety of activities that have occurred in Camp Butmir and around Bosnia and Herzegovina during the start of 2019. Last year was a hugely successful year for EUFOR, and this edition of the Forum shows that we are continuing in the same way.

As usual I would like to thank everyone who has contributed in their actions, stories and photos for this edition. Lots of people have thanked me for the media coverage that the Public Affairs Office (PAO) has provided via the homepage or social media. However, I must say that it is the hard work and dedication of the EUFOR soldiers and staff that should be highlighted; the stories “write themselves” and the PAO team’s job is always made that much easier when we have lots to cover.

If you have an interesting or fun story, please drop into the PAO team so we can get it into the Forum.

Co-operation among us is key, and I'm looking forward to continued co-operation with you and with your nations."

Updates on issues significant to the safe and secure environment in BiH are given to the diplomatic community in BiH on a regular basis to enhance their understanding of the overall situation and to foster the strong co-operation between EUFOR and the international community supporting BiH's path towards European integration.

Emergency rescue training with Mountain Rescue Service Trebević

Despite the cold, misty conditions, the snowy peak of Trebević Mountain was the venue for specialist, emergency training on Wednesday 6 February for the Gorska Služba Spašavanja (GSS - Mountain Rescue Service) Trebević, and the Multi National Battalion (MNBN) from EUFOR in Bosnia and Herzegovina (EUFOR BiH).

Led by qualified mountaineering instructor, Lieutenant Colonel Oliver Pilles, the 20-strong MNBN team of Austrian, Turkish and Hungarian soldiers led training sessions on emergency rescue techniques from the cable car gondolas, first aid and Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), and map reading/navigation.

30 members of the GSS Trebević took part in the training in order to enhance their ability to deal with a variety of emergencies and accident scenarios; although experienced in their field of emergency rescue, the unique environment of the cable car poses particular issues for the team.

The “Sarajevska Žičara” (Sarajevo Cable Car) originally opened in 1959, and closed due to maintenance issues in 1989; during the 1992-95 Bosnian war it was completely destroyed; it was reconstructed between 2017 and 2018, and officially reopened on 6 April 2018. Observing the training, Esad Tanović from J P Sarajevo (Public Company Sarajevo), which runs the Sarajevska žičara, said:

“Our annual emergency training plan involves national and cantonal emergency services. We would like to thank EUFOR for their efforts today, and we look forward to more co-operation and training with them in the future”.

The GSS Trebević is a voluntary, non-profit, public service, which specializes in search and rescue from inaccessible terrain and difficult weather conditions.

When asked about today’s event, the GSS Trebević team leader, Faruk Kadić said: “The mountain rescue team is well-trained for emergencies in difficult conditions. Today’s training activities with EUFOR have given my team an opportunity to exchange knowledge on evacuation systems and the management of injured people in the cable car”.

At the end of the training exercise, the MNBN commander, Lieutenant Colonel Pilles said: “It is a real pleasure to see the soldiers from EUFOR’s multinational battalion training with teams from the Sarajevska žičara and the Gorska Služba Spašavanja Trebević. It has been a great opportunity for us all to learn from each other”.

Polish Minister of Defence

On Friday 4 January, a delegation headed by Mariusz Błaszczak, Polish Minister of Defence, visited EUFOR in Bosnia and Herzegovina at Camp Butmir, Sarajevo.

After taking the salute from the EUFOR Honour Guard, Mr Błaszczak discussed the current political and security situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina during an office call with COMEUFOR, Major General Martin Dorfer.

Taking the opportunity to meet with some of the Polish soldiers based in Camp Butmir, Mr Błaszczak said:

“Poland’s ambition is to continue to contribute soldiers to the important work EUFOR does here in Bosnia and Herzegovina”.

Poland is one of 20 troop contributing countries to EUFOR; they provide soldiers for one of the 17 LOT Houses in Bosnia and Herzegovina, as well as specialists in mapping and logistics.

I am Wing Commander Dave Carter, Royal Air Force, and recently arrived as the new Chief J4/J6 & UK SNR, responsible for the entirety of engineering/logistics and CIS support to the EUFOR HQ mission.

This is my first time in BiH, and already I am loving the culture and scenery of this beautiful country. Unlike my predecessors, I have a career-long affiliation with fast jet engineering rather than logistics and supply. I’ve worked extensively in the Middle East, Europe, South Atlantic and USA on a wide range of Operations and Exercises, so the opportunity to work with my international colleagues again is especially exciting. I look forward to making a tangible difference during my time working with EUFOR ... hopefully moving some of the bigger projects towards reality, whilst having fun doing it with my outstanding J4/J6 team!

Although born in the UK, I am currently ‘living the dream’ near Washington DC in the USA with my wife and two boys, where I am employed on the F-35 Joint Strike Fighter Program. My hobbies include any outdoor related activities, together with photography and numismatics.

My name is Lieutenant Colonel Alfred Sanz, this is my second time serving with the EUFOR mission in Bosnia and Herzegovina. I am the Battalion commander of the Multinational Battalion, my primary role is to command and lead more than 250 soldiers from Austria, Hungary and Turkey.

This is my fourth mission for the Austrian Armed Forces, and it won’t be my last.

I was born in the east of Austria and joined the army in 1994, after I graduated as an NCO in the branch of mechanized infantry I chose to gain my commission as an officer. In 2005 I graduated from the military academy, since then I have served in Mechanized Infantry Battalion 13.

My private interests are working with wood, historical events especially from the military, and cycling. I am currently planning to get married later this year and I am looking forward to the “big day”.

Austrian Holstein cows join herds in Kalinovik

On 10 January a special project in Kalinovik reached its conclusion with 33 Holstein cows being added to livestock herds for breeding and milk production.

The project was initiated in September 2018 by Major General Martin Dorfer, COMEUFOR in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and delivered by the CIMIC team in the Austrian National element supporting EUFOR.

COMEUFOR met the Mayor of Kalinovik, Mrs Mileva Komlenović, on 14 September 2018; they discussed EUFOR’s presence during military exercises in the area, and how to minimise possible disruption to the local population due to troop movements.

After the meeting, Major General Dorfer agreed to facilitate a project involving the procurement of 33 dairy cows, which would benefit the people of Kalinovik.

Lieutenant Colonel Alexander Wallinger, project manager for the plan, said: “We have managed to assist with the process to procure 33 of the world’s best dairy breed, the famous black and white Holstein-Friesian cows”.

The cows, specially selected for breeding and milk-production, arrived in Kalinovik on 21 December 2018; they then had a routine, 3-week, quarantine period.

On the day the cows were officially handed over to local farmers, Mrs Komlenović said: “I am very satisfied with the successful conclusion of this project; the introduction of these cows is good news for the future of agriculture in Kalinovik”.

The Austrian “Carinthian Holstein Co-operative” supported the project, as they are experts in the export/import of Holstein-Friesian dairy cows.

On 13 February COMEUFOR visited the Mayor of Kalinovik, Mrs Mileva Komlenović to see dairy cattle that were delivered in December 2018 with the help of the Austrian National Contingent in Camp Butmir. All the cattle were pregnant when they arrived, 1 calf has now been born.

Family from Tomislavgrad saved by Turkish soldiers

Trying to tow the car out of the snow

Using manpower to free the car

Cold, but happy, the car is freed

CNN TURKEY reports the story

During a routine patrol from Camp Butmir to Livno on 22 January 2019, an 8-man team of Turkish soldiers, led by First Lieutenant Erol Ergin, encountered bad weather.

Sleet turned to heavy snow and with poor visibility it became impossible to continue without the use of snow chains.

The conditions were difficult for the patrol, but they were well-trained and well-prepared to face such adversity.

Towards the end of their patrol, the Turkish patrol team came across a car stuck in snow near Tomislavgrad.

In the car was a family, including a pregnant woman, who had been there for 6 hours; when the family saw the EUFOR patrol vehicles they asked for help.

Seeing that the car was incapable of moving without help, Lt Ergin's team worked in freezing temperatures for 45 minutes to free the car.

They used the towing line from the patrol vehicles, and when that wasn't enough, the team used physical manpower to get the car moving.

Despite the cold, the family was full of smiles after the car was freed; they were very grateful for the determination and hard work of the EUFOR soldiers.

When the team returned to Camp Butmir, the event was included their patrol report; it was highlighted on the EUFOR facebook site as a "good news story".

The story then went viral and was all over the media in in the soldiers' home country, even being broadcast on CNN TURKEY.

When asked about his team rescuing the family, First Lieutenant Ergin said: "It is a great honour to represent EUFOR, the patrol team did a great job, and the family said EUFOR provides a great service to Bosnia and Hezegovina".

LOT House Bratunac

On 24 January COMEUFOR, Major General Martin Dorfer, visited LOT house Bratunac to receive updates and meet new staff members.

LOT house commander, Captain Gernot Marschnig of the Austrian Army introduced the team to COMEUFOR.

Captain Marschnig has been the LOT house commander in Bratunac for just 2 weeks; he briefed COMEUFOR on local election results, the daily liaison with local the local police commander, local employment issues and strikes, and an assessment of the issue of migrants in the border areas.

When asked about COMEUFOR's visit, Captain Marschnig said: "It is a great opportunity to welcome COMEUFOR to LOT house Bratunac, and to brief him personally on our work here."

COMEUFOR thanked the team for their hospitality and praised the team for their efforts to identify issues that will affect the area in the future such as local investment in technical education and the National Park areas.

There are 17 EUFOR LOT houses in Bosnia and Herzegovina, manned by 7 different troop contributing countries; COMEUFOR regularly visits all of the LOT houses in order to meet the teams on the ground.

LOT House Mostar

A team from the EUFOR LOT House Mostar visited the United World College (UWC) in Mostar to brief Bosnian and international students on the work of EUFOR on Monday 11 February.

Captain Matthias Corodi, First Lieutenant Lea Fuchs and Special Officer Robert Ramser delivered lectures on the role of EUFOR Bosnia and Herzegovina, and the role of women in the EUFOR and the Swiss Army.

The presentations were delivered to a group of over 130 students from over 60 different nationalities; in the audience were over 40 students from Bosnia and Herzegovina.

After the visit, Mark Feltham, Headteacher of UWC Mostar, expressed his thanks to the team from LOT House Mostar for explaining their work in Mostar, and the work of EUFOR in Bosnia and Herzegovina. Special Officer Ramser shared his own story of his path from UWC student to EUFOR; this gave students an insight in to how one can follow UWC values whilst working in the military.

Special Officer Ramser said: "As a former UWC student, it was a great pleasure to present a lecture on the Swiss involvement in EUFOR to the students of UWC Mostar." UWC was founded in 1962 to offer an educational experience based on shared learning, collaboration and understanding so that the students would act as champions of peace; UWC Mostar was founded in 2006 and is described as being firmly established as a College at the heart of the UWC movement.

Rowing, burpees, pull-ups, press-ups (with a hand-clap), thrusters, and a 900-metre run: any one of these events may seem demanding enough, but for 6 hardy souls, they did all of the events in one go for the Camp Butmir Cross-Fit competition on 12 and 14 February.

The Cross-Fit competition is one of the monthly competitions organized by the gym staff in order to contribute to a healthy level of rivalry and co-operation between members of EUFOR.

According to www.crossfit.com, CrossFit is a “lifestyle characterized by safe, effective exercise and sound nutrition”. The website goes on to say: “CrossFit can be used to accomplish any goal, from improved health to weight loss to better performance”.

Typically CrossFit involves exercises which combine strength and explosive power, but this can be tailored to the ability of the individual. The sport often combines elements such as power lifting, rowing and body-weight exercises such as pull-ups and press-ups.

The 6 athletes who participated in the Camp

Butmir CrossFit competition decided to get involved for reasons such as: “proving myself”, “just to see how much I can accomplish”, and “just for a bit of fun”.

However, it didn’t seem to be much fun from the sidelines!

CrossFit involves exercises which combine strength and explosive power, but this can be tailored to the individual

After 2000m of rowing, all the competitors seemed to be sweating and gasping for breath. Next came 30 burpees with a sideways jump over a low hurdle; this really took it out of the athletes and all of them had to take short breathers at this stage.

Next up were the pull-ups: 30 in total. Swinging legs for momentum, over hand grip and under hand grip were all utilized by the athletes to get their chins over the bar. At this stage pauses for breath were getting more frequent.

And then the dreaded thrusters: a squat with 30 kg, then the weights bar had to be extended above the head. There was no hiding place in this exercise, All 6 competitors were streaming with sweat at this point in the competition.

Press-ups don’t sound too demanding, but they are when they have to be explosive press-ups with a hand-clap. By this stage some of the competitors were doing them in pairs as their bodies were reaching the limits of exhaustion.

Finally the end was almost in sight: after the press-ups came 3 laps of the gym... and the blessed finish-line! All 6 had pushed themselves as far as they could. Even the fittest out of the 6 were hardly able to speak.

First out of the 5 men was Miklos with an outstanding time of 21 minutes 21 seconds; the only female competitor was Maj Jessica Drew (UK) with a time of 24 minutes 7 seconds.

According to www.crossfit.com, CrossFit is a "lifestyle characterized by safe, effective exercise and sound nutrition".

The winner, Miklos, described the combination exercises as "horrendous", but he still managed to complete them in a new record time. All of the athletes were very pleased to have completed the competition; with only 6 of them competing, they can all be rightly proud of being in an elite group of CrossFitters in Camp Butmir.
